To the memory of b.p. Nichol (1944-1988)
automobile poem

an auto's horn

blasting in traffic
grass poems

grass is a movement vertical or horticultural. It depends upon where you sit.

— for William Roberts, a painter do you see a disturbance of the grass (where a mouse or a house was?)

bird poem

the child
rolls her head skyward

sea poem

the sea today is blue & smooth without bound & a little boat touches sea & sky & sun at a point as on a graph lines intersect train poem

the sound of the train
shooting powerful fire

raining sparks
& words here

fall

the force of the fall
in
ing . dent
bridge poem

the force of the bridge held up
or holding itself up
.
sudden release of image

highway poem

the highway turns
works
as an image
2nd edition, slightly revised, of 150 copies published 23 Nov '70 as CURVD H&Z 414 from 1357 Lansdowne Avenue, Toronto, Canada M6H 3Z9

1st published by Ganglia Press, Toronto, in Jul '69 as GRoNK vol. 3 #4.

An earlier version appeared in the author's BEAUFORT'S SCALE (Kitchener, Weed/Flower Press, Aug '67) & several of the poems appeared in WEED magazine (#s 3 & 8, May/Jun '66 & Mar/Apr '67).